buckle up, this one is long as fuck!

this guy on the commie film discord in a voice call said that i needed a cover photo for my newsletter so i'm taking his advice. tell me what you think?

this week's layout is inspired by whatever the fuck i felt like doing, which appears to be nothing. however i think it's a banger layout because all the photos line up super well.

i had a really good high energy week for two weeks, and now i'm back to crashing and burning as per usual scheduled brain programming. i hurt my wrist more while climbing and ethan says they'll pick me up and carry me out of the barn if they catch me there. this year's resolution was to climb at least twice a week, so whenever my wrist unfucks itself...

i learned how to use the embroidery machine at the shop, which means that now everyone wants a piece of my machine time while i'm on shift. at least they're paying me money to do it?

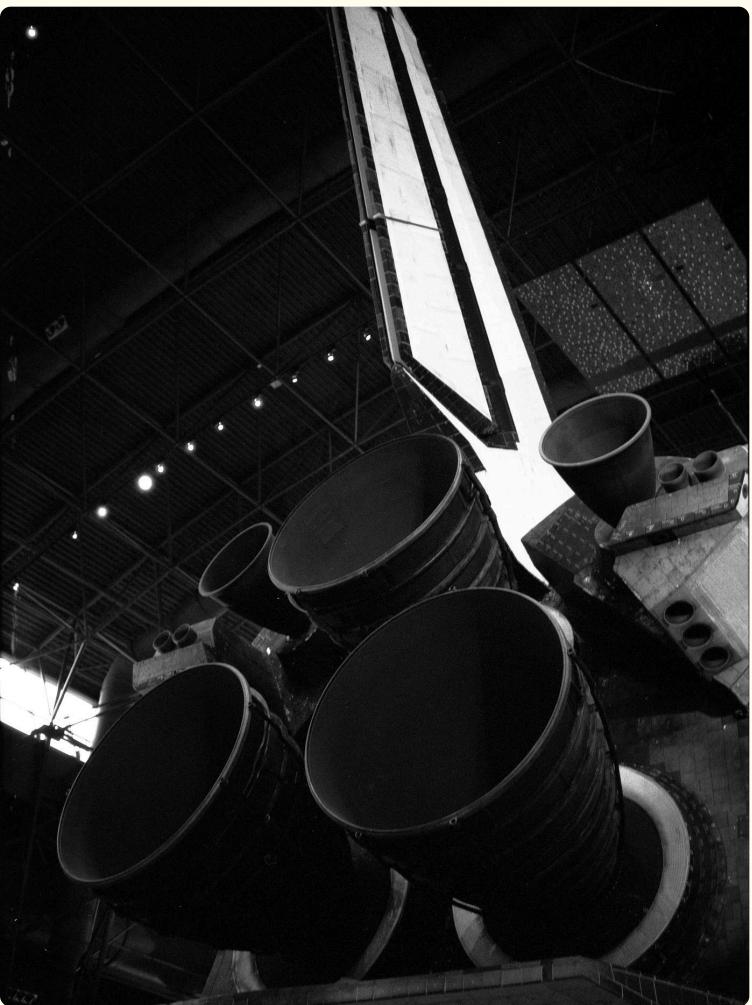

i got my film back from bashlab (if you want film developed you should definitely send it to aidan because he does a great job. c41 and bw for 7.50 a roll) and the scans look great. you can check them out in the following pages... color photos coming next week.

it's actually kind of great to have a friend who does your film dev because it means you see them more often, and this month has been kind of lonely since stella is away on forced vacation.

rit got a day off because of the snowstorm and it was on my usual day off so it didn't affect me at all... boring. enjoy the photos.

- from the photo walk last year

not sure why there's dates burned into some of these lol

- somehow i don't remember where this is from, which makes it even weirder that it's a photo of me

new: the song feature column

user:cherry 🍒 is now playing:

untitled #5 (álfafoss)

sigur rós

beautiful and sad and strangely comforting. i usually fall asleep to this at night.

user:Akivaa 🐸 is loving:

CINEMA

hush

The Marias

"I really enjoy the rhythm of the song and it feels like something I could sway to"

user:Poladroid 🎶 is jamming to:

Abandonware

Bye/Gone

Roman à Clef

"It has a catchy hook, good lyrics, and the heavenly voice of Jen Goma (Pains of Being Pure at Heart, A Sunny Day in Glasgow), and it sounds like it was released in the 80s but is from 2015."

signs of work mode andy:

- hair up
- everything is red
- sigur ros is playing faintly in the background
- standing in a random basement with chemicals
- the smell of fixer
- print wash machine noises
